

PATTERSON
IN JURY'S HANDS

Attorney Makes an Im-pudic Plea for Her Accused

WOMAN'S FORMER
LIFE IS NOT ON TRIAL

They have been a scapegoat, an accused, but that has no bearing on the case. Against her—Attorney she must be tried on the morrow of the charges—her relations with the Young are recounted and alleged motives for the murder thoroughly threshed out—her husband visits her.

New York, Nov. 21.—An outline of the case against Nan Patterson presented to the jury today by Assistant Attorney General, who told relations of the defendant and her husband, and dwelt upon alleged motives which the prosecutor was acting in cases of Miss Patterson sat with a sweat on her face, and occasionally clutched her father's hand, suffering the jury said: "The man of living of this young woman and virtue are not on trial. Unless you are satisfied that she committed the crime charged, she acquit her. Of course her relations on the dead man is of the most importance and must be told."

Mr. Martin, the divorced husband of Patterson, called upon her at this morning and cheered her with comforting words. Martin married Miss Patterson when she was 17 years of age.
They lived together two years. She was 21.

No Motive for Suicide.
The jury would show that the motive for the killing was not to establish sufficient motives for the killing. That presumption was made to kill Young 13 before the crime was committed.
The jury would prove by circumstances.

Prosecutor told of the life of Young, how he came here about 14 years ago, an athlete, who came to this country with his success with racing.
He said he lived the life of a gambler and drank heavily.
He had the highest sense of gambling though he was a bet in his life, and was among his fellows as an easy going kind.

pression. The witness was given the name of New York.

and appeared and the old tempts were made to get the girl to undergo an operation.

The witness decided to go to Europe.

cused of the shooting of Young and

REAL FARM AT THE FAIR.

Visitors at the Lewis and Clark Exposition Will Have a Chance to See Crops Raised on a Model Farm.

Portland, Nov. 21.—A large experimental farm, in actual operation, under the direction of skilled agriculturalists, will be one of the many novel features of the Lewis and Clark Centennial. The farm will be located on the western side of the fair grounds, and the work of preparing the soil and laying out the farm is already well under way.

The site allotted to the farm was formerly a truck garden which was conducted by Chinamen. It is an ideal spot with rich, alluvial earth capable of producing the most prolific crops. None of the great world expositions ever held before have given such an object lesson to the people.

While there have been cornstalks of enormous size, tied with blue ribbons, and fruits on a china plate, the opportunity of studying a marvelous crop, while actually growing will be an entirely new and original feature of the 1905 exposition.

were dead, and he seemed surprised,
